

McNeely is Elected to Board of Trustees

Carter F. McNeely is the newest member of the Thomas Jefferson Foundation Board of Trustees.

She was elected to a four-year term in April.

A native and resident of Charlottesville, McNeely is chairperson of the Virginia Historic Resources Board, president of the Virginia Center for the Creative Arts in Sweet Briar, and a member of the Board of Directors of the Paramount Theater in Charlottesville and of the World Healing Institute in Hawaii.

Also, two former Board of Trustees officers, Rebecca W. Rimel of Philadelphia and Hunter J. Smith of Charlottesville, have been named emeritus trustees.

Rimel joined the Foundation board in 1994 and served as vice chairman for two years (2002-03). Smith became a TJF trustee in 1994 and served as secretary for three years (2001-03). Their terms as board members expired at the end of 2003.

As emeritus trustees, they will continue to participate fully in board activities but will not have voting privileges.
