

Generous donors help advance the Jeffersonian legacy

The Thomas Jefferson Foundation realized a number of noteworthy accomplishments in 2005, among them launching the interactive Monticello Explorer on the Foundation's Web site; conducting a scholarly conference in Salzburg, Austria, under the auspices of the Robert H. Smith International Center for Jefferson Studies; introducing the Acoustiguide audio tour of the mountaintop; expanding the Digital Archaeological Archive of Comparative Slavery project into the Caribbean; completing the second phase of the restoration of the All-Weather Passageway beneath the house; publishing Volume 2 of The Papers of Thomas Jefferson: Retirement Series; constructing the Palmer Woodland Theater in the Thomas Jefferson Parkway; and producing a new guide for young visitors to Monticello.

None of these – or any of the Foundation's other diverse efforts to advance its dual mission of preservation and education – would have been possible without the interest and generosity of our donors.

On these pages we gratefully acknowledge the individuals, foundations, corporations, and organizations who made contributions to Monticello in 2005. The generosity of these donors enabled the Foundation to achieve $1,784,340 in unrestricted support for its operating budget and $12,549,838 in total gift income during the past year.

Our ambitions remain high and our goal remains excellence. We continue to believe that the ideas and ideals of Thomas Jefferson are more important now than ever before, and, with the much-appreciated help of our donors, we are committed to advancing the Jeffersonian legacy.

The Monticello Fund

The Thomas Jefferson Foundation gratefully acknowledges the donors at all levels who made gifts to the Monticello Fund over the period Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 2005.

Contributions in Memory of Carl W. Smith

The Thomas Jefferson Foundation fondly remembers the late Carl W. Smith and recognizes those individuals, foundations, corporations, and organizations who made contributions in his memory to support Monticello. In total, $28,675 was given in memory of Mr. Smith over the period Dec. 12, 2005, through March 21, 2006. The Foundation deeply appreciates these gifts that commemorate Mr. Smith's vision and generosity, and is grateful for the ongoing leadership of his widow, Mrs. Hunter J. Smith, a longtime member of the Foundation's Board of Trustees.
